Circuit's Bring Giving Home Workshop will be at St. John, Quincy on Tuesday, October 1. The workshop will begin with a meal at 5:30. (The hosting congregation would probably appreciate an advance "nose count" as it plans this meal.) Please contact Rev. Hayden at pastor@lcosj.org with approximate numbers. At the spring, 2019 CID pastoral conference, pastors heard the "pastors' portion" of one of the Synod's "Philippians" Stewardship workshops. The upcoming Bring Giving Home workshop will contain the "laypersons' portion." Pastors are invited and encouraged to bring with them to the workshop 3 to 5 key lay leaders from each congregation, and to discuss stewardship with them on the way to and from the workshop. The workshop will lay out the big picture of Stewardship, and encourage participants to see their responsibilities as stewards as aspects of their Christian vocation. It will take up monetary giving for New Testament Christians, and suggest the broad outlines of a process that involves teaching God's people in congregations, asking them to respond, and planning accordingly. The workshop will challenge each congregation to take the "next step" in Stewardship ministry, whatever it may be for that particular church. And the workshop will conclude with a word about the congregation as a member of the Synod and the District. If you cannot attend the workshop in your circuit, please come to another. Additional information about Bring Giving Home workshops, including a complete list of dates and locations, can be accessed at <http://www.cidlcms.org/stewardship.html>
